Cloud-capped horizons beckoned minds;
Feet pursued winding paths.
Fertile leaves whispered the promise
Of a golden blossom.

The snarling pitfalls snared nothing
And sulked in their darkness.
Ice-blue pools mirrored expressions
Of pain, joy, and all life.

Together, we walked, ran, climbed, hoped,
And stood for Granger High.
Upon the last summit we gazed
At twisting, traveled trails.

Mellow memories tease senses
And provoke reverie.
All that remains is the courage
To conquer new summits.

Granger High has witnessed since her dedication in 1958, the accomplishments of both community and individual efforts. Five graduating classes, aided by excellent facilities and conscientious teachers, have stepped through her doors. A large enrollment necessitated the construction of a new industrial arts building this year. Attractive and modern, it added to the clean lines and spaciousness of the campus. The modern ideal of American education radiated, providing an atmosphere of "eagerness to learn." We will indeed "honor and cherish forever, dear Granger High."

As the sun lights and warms the path for its travelers, our faculty brightened minds and nurtured intellect. Our compass, Dr. Call, and our guideposts, the counselors, blazed the trail. Company scouts, our student leaders, directed activities which reinvigorated us. Had we been left on our own, the path would have stretched dark and dreary before us. No playful sun rays would have bounced on the grass and rocks. We would have been lost without a sense of direction or of unity.

Our administration worked hard to chart a bright course; however, we took each footstep and chose our individual trails. Only these individual memories will serve as a basis for useful lives.

Administration

Principal

initiated his successful first year

As a navigator directs his ship through stormy seas to sunny shores, Dr. Call has plotted our course to greater achievements and more glorious victories. He challenged us to fulfill our motto, "Let's keep Granger on top." Forever etched in our memories are his efforts to arouse further support, not only within Granger High, but also in the surrounding communities. With vigor and enthusiasm he made "smooth sailing" synonymous with each of the events of this year.

To you, Dr. Call, thanks echo loudly. May this, your first year, prove to be but a foundation upon which you may build lasting memories.

Superintendents and Board

led the Granite District

Dr. Kenneth Farrer

Elmer Hartvigsen

Dr. Orvil England

We looked to our superintendents with respect and reliance for the fulfillment of our needs. Leading the Granite District, they strove to promote a better understanding between parents and school, to give us the highest education possible, and to help us to be better citizens. We owe a debt of gratitude to these men who quenched our thirst for knowledge and fulfilled our desires to be useful to our families, our country, and our fellow men through a well established system of learning.

*Hi Tracy,
It's been fun
knowing you.
Hope to see you

"The biggest problem in the world could have been solved when it was small." This certainly described the attitude of Granger's counseling staff toward each individual this past year. Many obstacles arose during our journey, but with their guidance, our understanding counselors solved many of our personal problems and made the year an enjoyable one.

Their jobs were not easy because keeping records in order, running the bookstore, and assisting the administration took a great deal of time and effort. This work was presented to the Lancers in the form of pleasant smiles and friendly "hello's."

President Steve Olsen

With a determined attitude, President Steve Olsen personified the Ideal of the Lancer. Possessing a magnetic character, he exemplified a spirit of unity achieved by friendship. His expressive smile and interested "hello" invited all to reach the obtainable goals of school spirit, citizenship, and scholarship. The deep-rooted qualities needed for his successful leadership won lasting friendships for Granger. Never tiring, he pursued defined paths and consequently reached the eminent heights obtained by the few who leave self, to help others. His personable attributes will remain in part at Granger — precedents to which future leaders will adhere. Assisting with the duties of the executive office were our amiable officers, Keith, Pat, LaDean, Judy, and Jackie. They fulfilled their designated duties with expedience and timely humor. Ever faithful to established tradition and purposeful progress, they will be recognized by future Lancers as a vital part in Granger history.

Student Government

exhibited will to serve

Vivacious Junior Varsity cheerleaders, an informed student body, and well-planned activities were the result of the work of our Student Council. Each one of the sixty-four students displayed high regard for his position and a keen sense of responsibility. A feeling of unity allowed them to accomplish their duties. Their enthusiastic will to serve fellow students, teachers, and principal was the primary motive which made the tremendous year of 1962-63. The Round Table worked with just as much vitality and eagerness. By meeting once a week, the organization systematically regulated the purchasing of school sweaters. In addition, they coordinated a variety of class activities. Our exceptional student government added to the democratic functioning of Granger High School.

Unity, good will, and mutual esteem which grew with each of their well-planned activities rewarded the young women of Granger High School. Assuredly, new friendships were cultivated, and out of them stepped young ladies better prepared for careers and for marriage by the association they had with new, interesting people. Long after memories grow dim, they will cherish the friendships they made through Girls' Teen Association and its many activities. Harmony was the understudy of the officers, and together with the assistance of the energetic sponsors, they provided fun-filled activities throughout the year. The Tri-Color Times gave tribute to a few of the many remarkable girls of the school through the GTA-sponsored Honor Girl program. Granger's first hair styling contest was a talked-about success. The Christmas doll drive, the annual dance and assembly, and the parents' tea and fashion show contributed greatly to a successful and thrilling year.

Boys' Teen Association

magnified dignity in young men.

Certain young coeds were not elated when the beard - growing contest lengthened to three weeks in January. "I thought it was really fine last year," said one pert young fem, wearing a loose-fitting ring. Masculinity ruled in the halls of Granger, and the whiskered figures displayed, compared, and treasured the rough, annual growths of beards, sideburns, goatees, and mustachios. A disk jockey from KMUR radio announced that the mighty Lancers would have had victory over Highland had they used Gillette razor blades. After the judges made their final decisions and the winners received their honors, Gillette was put into practice, and everyone was happy. The entertaining B. T.A. assembly previewed numerous television shows in amusing scenes the public never sees. As usual, the typical manly enthusiasm and energy made the Boys' Teen Association assembly one of the best programs of the year. Sir Lancer Day and the Father and Son Banquet helped to make the year meaningful and memorable.

Waysides offered challenges. In extracurricular activities, we fulfilled personal ambitions; we achieved self-expression through the development of our talents and of our leadership abilities. Difficult and delightful situations varied the uniformity of our paths. Through cooperation with others, we procured new acquaintances and renewed old friendships. By working as units we climbed steadily, aided others, and accomplished feats which could not be completed individually.

We, the staff, present our "1963 Shield" to you. As fellow travelers, we have tried to capture the outstanding events of our journey and transform heart-stirring memories onto paper. These memories remain with us to refresh our minds about the journey we experienced and the waysides we visited. To the seniors of our school we dedicate this book; to you, who walked together from darkened valleys to sunlit hilltops, preparing yourself for the new and challenging horizons in the journey yet to come. We invite you to relive with us, "Our Journey, Our Memories." May it always bring a joy of remembrance to you, as you continue upon your pathway of life.

Accolade

encouraged writers and inspired readers

A hush of admiration stilled each of us as we read the 1962-63 Accolade, our literary magazine. Varying from poems to essays, and from humor to tragedy, the articles captured our minds and swept us to new realms of consciousness. Mrs. Foster, the capable advisor, encouraged the amateurs, carefully corrected the drafts, and supervised the publication. Marilyn Smout, the editor, organized the material and contributed exceptional creative works. We compliment the Accolade Staff and contributors on their fine edition.

Tri-Color Times

were ministers of the pen

Giving the Lancers an outstanding newspaper took many hours of diligent work, gathering and editing news. Members of this staff watched their copy, born of faintly intelligible scrawls, become the clean, printed pages for which students clamored on distribution day. The Tri-Color Times staff frantically rushed around to meet their deadlines. The newspaper, which was avidly read and eagerly discussed, became a part of student life.

Mrs. Carolyn Gundry, Sponsor

Working hand in hand with the Shield, the photography staff offered, in photos, reminiscent stepping stones placed precisely on our way as we journeyed along our path of memories. Filling orders for the Tri-Color-Times, clubs, and separate functions, the staff captured in pictures bitter defeats, joyous victories, humorous antics and pride-filled moments. The photographers added to school life many thousands of words to be cherished and relived in pictures.

Symphony Sub-Debs

completed first year

The Symphony Sub-Debs, encouraged by their president, Judy Inkley, engaged in pursuits to enrich their cultural lives. As a branch of the Symphony Debs, they supported concerts, dramas, and other related media.

Mr. John Chatelain

Mrs. Helen Mae Foster

Literature Club

studied classic literature

As a new club at Granger High this year, the Literature Club met noon hours to discuss a variety of literary works. Their chairman, John Robinson, guided the progress of the group through English and American prose and poetry.

Junior Choir

voiced tuneful melodies

Girls dressed in red wool dresses and boys dressed in blue vests were the sight the student body beheld as the curtain first opened on the Junior Choir. Clear melodic tones rang throughout the halls of Granger High School as these eighty-five individuals unified themselves to voice a variety of tuneful melodies. Their goal of gaining more knowledge of music was attained while they willingly entertained others.

Concert Choir

displayed musical skill

An appearance on television was one of the events that highlighted the activities of the Concert Choir this year. By harmoniously blending their voices, this outstanding unit successfully caroled beautiful songs. Granger High was well represented whenever and wherever they displayed their musical skill.

Boys' Glee

entertained others

Enthusiasm for music and a desire to entertain were factors which aided the Boys Glee in a successful year. Under the direction of Mr. Hailstone, their masculine voices blended to create a gift of song for all.

Girls' Glee

exhibited talent

Angelic tones, decisive rhythm, and distinct notes were a result of the united effort of the Girls' Glee. Complete co-operation was an absolute necessity, for this group was the largest girls' glee Granger High has known. Their choice talent was exhibited throughout the year of 1962-63.

Madrigal Singers

Beautiful voices which combined to achieve perfect tone exemplified the purpose of Granger's Madrigal Singers. Blending harmonious voices was a job designated for their director, Dean Hailstone. Performing in various productions offered them the chance to display their agility in music. They were proudly featured in the annual Christmas program and later in the Lancer Ballade. These were only two of the highlights in their very successful year.

Danceband

performed excellent job

Granger's own danceband furnished many an exciting dance rhythm for the major productions of the year 1962-63. Whenever their sparkling melodies were heard Lancer feet itched to dance. They provided the "on the spot" music so enjoyed by other schools on our traveling assemblies.

No more teachers, no more thinkers,

Marching Band

Be good

Lee Bennion

Orchestra

brought forth gifted arrangements

The music department at Granger left nothing to be desired again this year. Mr. Chatelain and Mr. Hurst did excellent jobs in transforming their beginning musicians into accomplished ones. The marching band marched on to fame in such events as the Santa Claus parade, the B.Y.U. Homecoming, and the University of Utah Homecoming. Melodious arrangements brought forth by a gifted conductor brought much respect to the Granger High School Orchestra. Performing in the Youth Concert brought much city-wide recognition.

labored unselfishly

Miss Walton's warm personality exemplified the spirit of friendship and helpfulness typical of Red Cross members. Her leadership and helping hand made successful the decorating trips to the Veterans Hospital, the Christmas program taken to the Nursing home, and the services for the Primary Children's Hospital. The club's value was expressed when they proudly finished their community scrapbook and the chest which was sent to a foreign country. President Kathy Thomas, who has worked enthusiastically in Red Cross for several years was assisted by her capable officers in planning the outstanding year of serviceful activities.

U. N. Club

planned and studied

The U.N. Club purpose of preparing its members for University Model United Nations caused Mr. Haacke, the sponsor, and President Don Christensen to labor diligently in their specific study of Cuba and in their preparations for year-end activities. The club members enjoyed learning U.N. format and sending delegates who represented Cuba to the Model U.N. The U.N. Club participants were individuals who typified student interest in world affairs and in the United States' relationship with neighboring peoples. They are commended for constructive and worthwhile expression of their sincere interest.

Drama

performed before audiences

Under the direction of Mrs. Cropper, the Drama Club members made fine representation of Granger High School in contests throughout the valley and helped to produce the successful school play. Student dramatists participated in the annual Forensic Meet and in the Poetry Festival at Logan. It was their pleasure to attend the Nutcracker Ballet and the production of Hamlet at Utah University. President Paul Frisby and his officers planned attendance at many cultural activities thoroughly enjoyed by the club members during the school year.

"... toil and trouble, boil and bubble ..."

Debate

persuaded and dissuaded

"Resolved that the U.S. should promote a common Market in the Western Hemisphere . . ." was the 1963 topic for debate. Mr. Haacke, President Mike Middlemas, and the Debate Club members planned their meets with other schools. In vigorous competition they presented the affirmative and negative against teams from Olympus, Granite, South, Alpine, and Provo schools. Participation in such a club gave each members opportunities to speak extemporaneously on pertinent, controversial subjects. They developed the ability to think objectively, to speak with correct rhetorical qualities, and to speak persuasively.

F.H.A.

Future Homemakers of America

With the purpose of building better homes in the future, the F.H.A., under the sponsorship of Mrs. Bliss and Mrs. Floisand, completed another successful year. The club's goal this year, was the starting of each girl's Hope Chest. Early in the year a delegation met with other Future Homemakers in Heber City for an orientation about the purpose of the club. Showing their skill and ingenuity they co-sponsored the Harvest Ball. The girls of the F.H.A. worked to make the year both beneficial and enjoyable for all.

A. G. Club

excelled in beautifying Granger

Vigorously carrying on the traditions of the Agricultural club were Jack Bingham and his hard-working officers. They learned by doing and applied their skills to the task of beautifying the campus. Their projects included landscaping the "G," and a field trip to the University of Utah. The club also provided many activities which fostered fun and pleasure for both the members of the club and the studentbody. Their efforts were realized and appreciated by everyone.

Swimming

developed expert swimmers

Under the direction of Mr. Thorum, sponsor, and Lee Carter, president, the cooperative swimming club practiced new strokes every Thursday night. Techniques which denoted hours of fun and effort emerged in each participant.

Commercial Club

toured Federal Reserve Bank

Field trips, parties, and guest speakers composed the commercial club curriculum. Their efficient president, Esther Ruybalid, and their vivacious sponsor, Mrs. Nickerson, made the entire year a successful one.

Skating

round and round we go

Roller skating halls scened the exhuberant energy of the Granger High skating club every other Thursday night. Supervising their parties and other fun-filled activities were their president, Lance Robards, and their cheerful sponsor, Mrs. Siddoway.

Skiing

up hill, down hill

Aside from a few spills the ski club of Granger High had many cold but thrilling excitements on the slopes of the local mountains. Barry Buggerman, president, and their sponsor, Mrs. Irvine supervised their fun-filled activities.

Future Teachers

prepared students for future career

The growing need and changing times challenged the Future Teachers. The advisor, Mrs. Siddoway, helped them realize the challenge. They answered it by putting into effect a program to give Granger teachers aid by substitute teaching and correcting papers.

Knitting Club

further developed knitting skills

Proving that knitting was not for grandmas, the members of the Granger Knitting Club enthusiastically made sweaters and other useful articles which were not old fashioned by any standards. Under the direction of Miss Weaver, the new club succeeded in developing dexterous abilities and in setting higher home economic standards.

Art Club helped to highlight a creative journey

Throughout the past year, breakfasts and field trips highlighted the Art Club's creative journey. With Mr. Johnson, advisor, and Janis Cahoon, president, the active artists decorated our halls and windows with colorful Yuletide scenes. Their dance posters, program posters and publicity prints advertised Granger's activities.

Electronics Club worked on making a better electric nation

A nation full of electric necessities did not stop the Electronics Club to create new devices. Mr. Lott, advisor, worked close to the boys, showing them the latest in building up the already powerful electric machines seen every day. All was not work. The club visited many industries, which added to a most enjoyable club year.

Latin Club

studied a dead language

Charles Vought, president, Greg Larson, vice president, Pam Chiarle, secretary and treasurer, helped to plan the activities and supervised the members as they studied the Latin Language. Reading Roman literature and Greek tragedies provided entertainment besides the many parties, including a Roman banquet.

*Jacy,
I like to wish you, a very talented young lady, the very best life has to

'cause you won't be a Sophomore any more.
And me I'll be a Senior! Be glad or have fun.*

Barbara Workman, president, Suzanne Harris, vice president, led the Spanish Club during the past year. Besides studying the cultures and customs of the Spanish speaking countries and their people, they learned more of our Latin American neighbors on a trip to the University of Utah. They also viewed interesting films concerning these countries.

French Club

enjoyed the year's curriculum

Marilyn Smout, president, and Ike Morrow, vice president, supported and led the French Club throughout the past year. The educational and fun activities included the study of the culture and customs of the French people. A French breakfast highlighted the curriculum. Other parties and tours accented the year.

John Robison, president, Mike Wodbrey, vice president, Linda Robison, secretary and treasurer, assisted the members and planned many activities. The initiation of the new students began a fund-filled year which ended with a delicious banquet. Parties spiced the year and a luncheon was given to all members. Many purchased unique German pins again this year.

Pep Club

added spark to school spirit

Chosen from spring try-outs, sixty-four energetic, smiling coeds composed our Trianon Club. They displayed poise, beauty, showmanship and personality in their intricate and well-precisioned drum and record marches. Vivacious marching committees created these marches under the direction of two expert drill mistresses. Sherry Hiatt and Connie Knaus. The Trianons served also as an honorary service group. Their sponsor, Miss Ray, and their dependable president Marilyn Smout, helped them to organize activities.

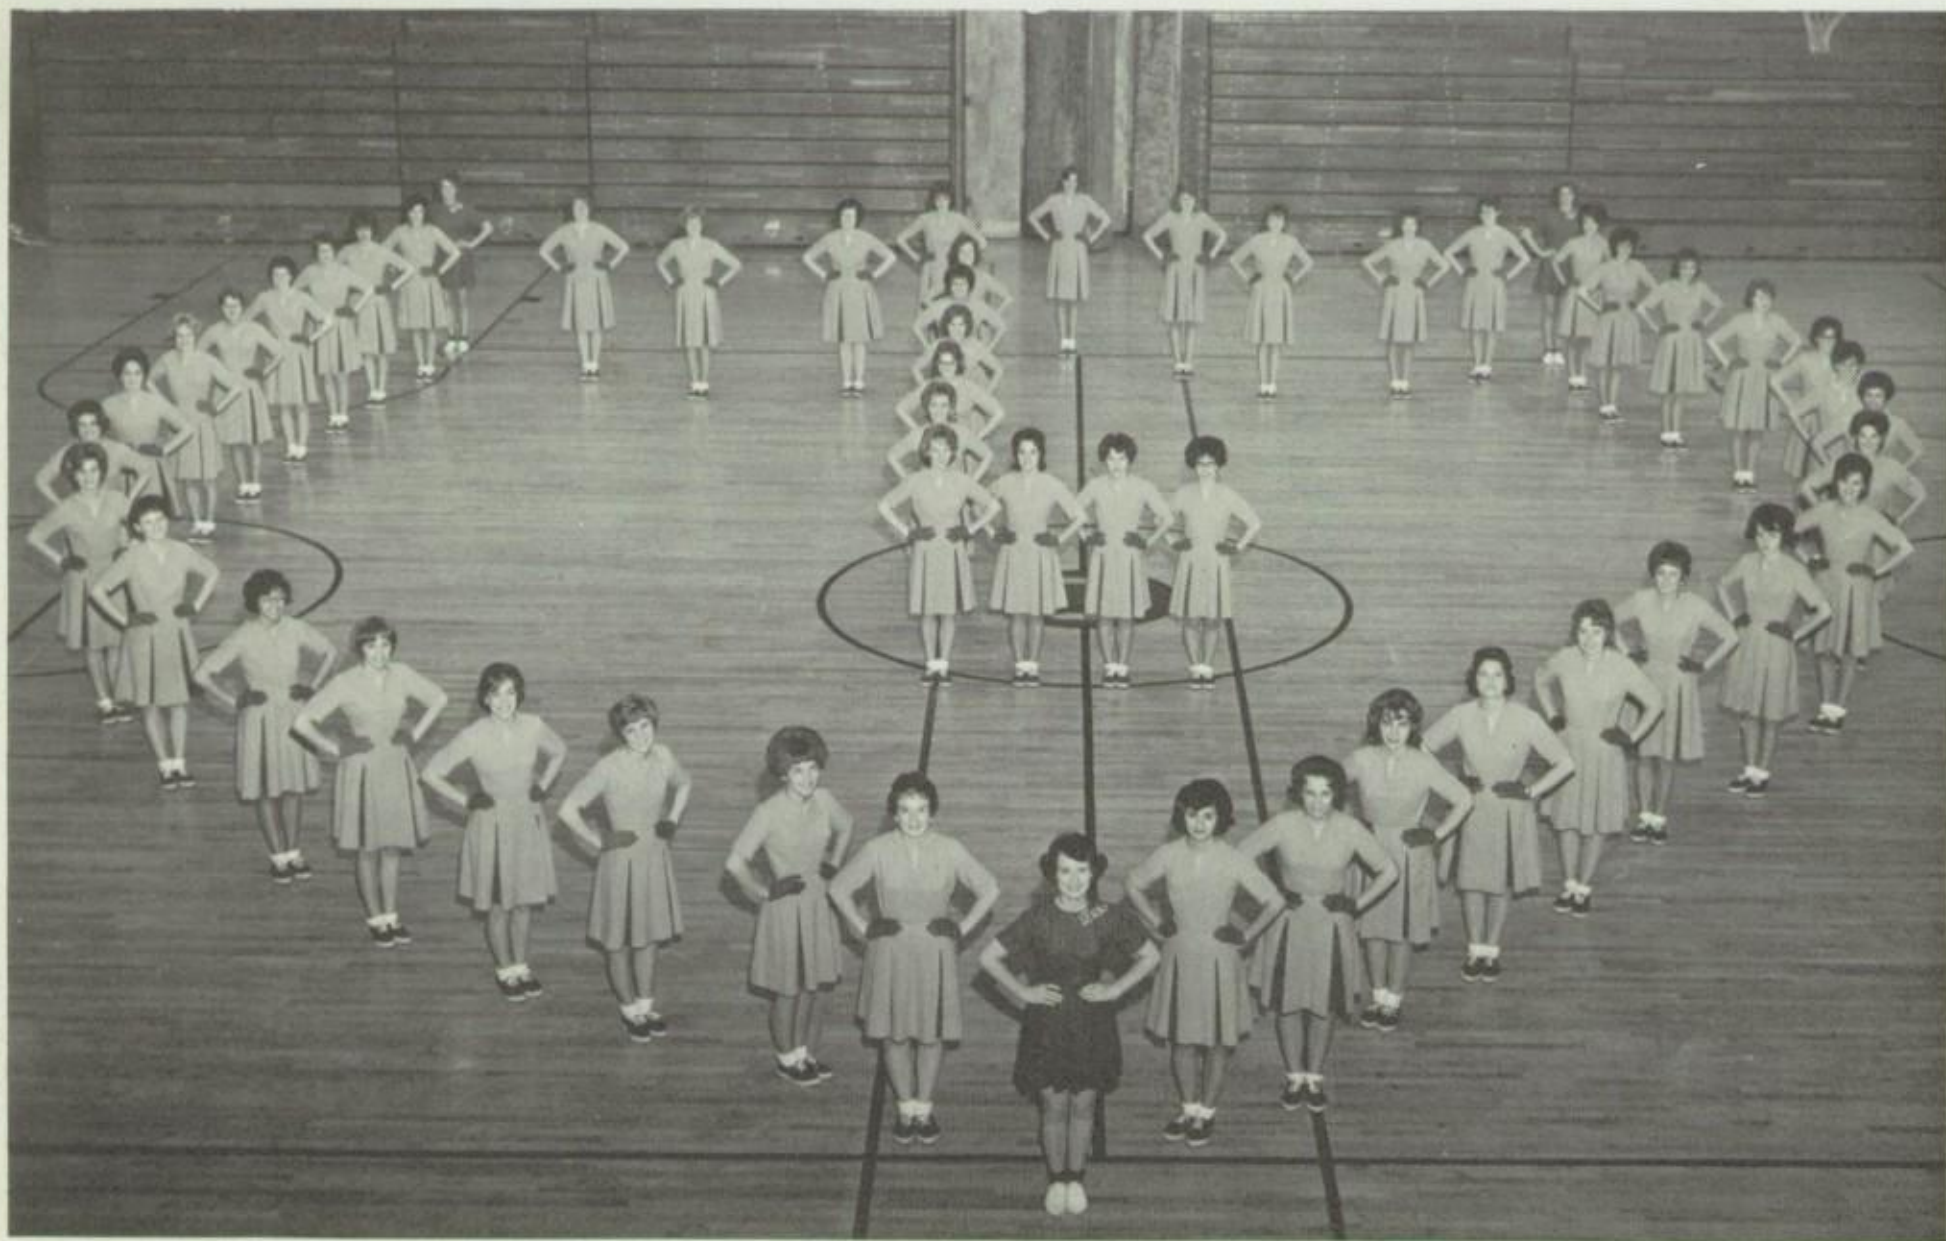

Permanently etched in Trianon memories are the games in the downpour of rain, their teas which created new friendships, their assembly which intrigued the audience, and their dance that added a finishing touch to the school year. They promoted pep and school spirit among their spectators. Members of our faculty and student body take pride in the colorful and friendly Granger High Pep Club.

Basketball season was made more exciting and full of more school spirit this year.

Pep Band

shouldered responsibility

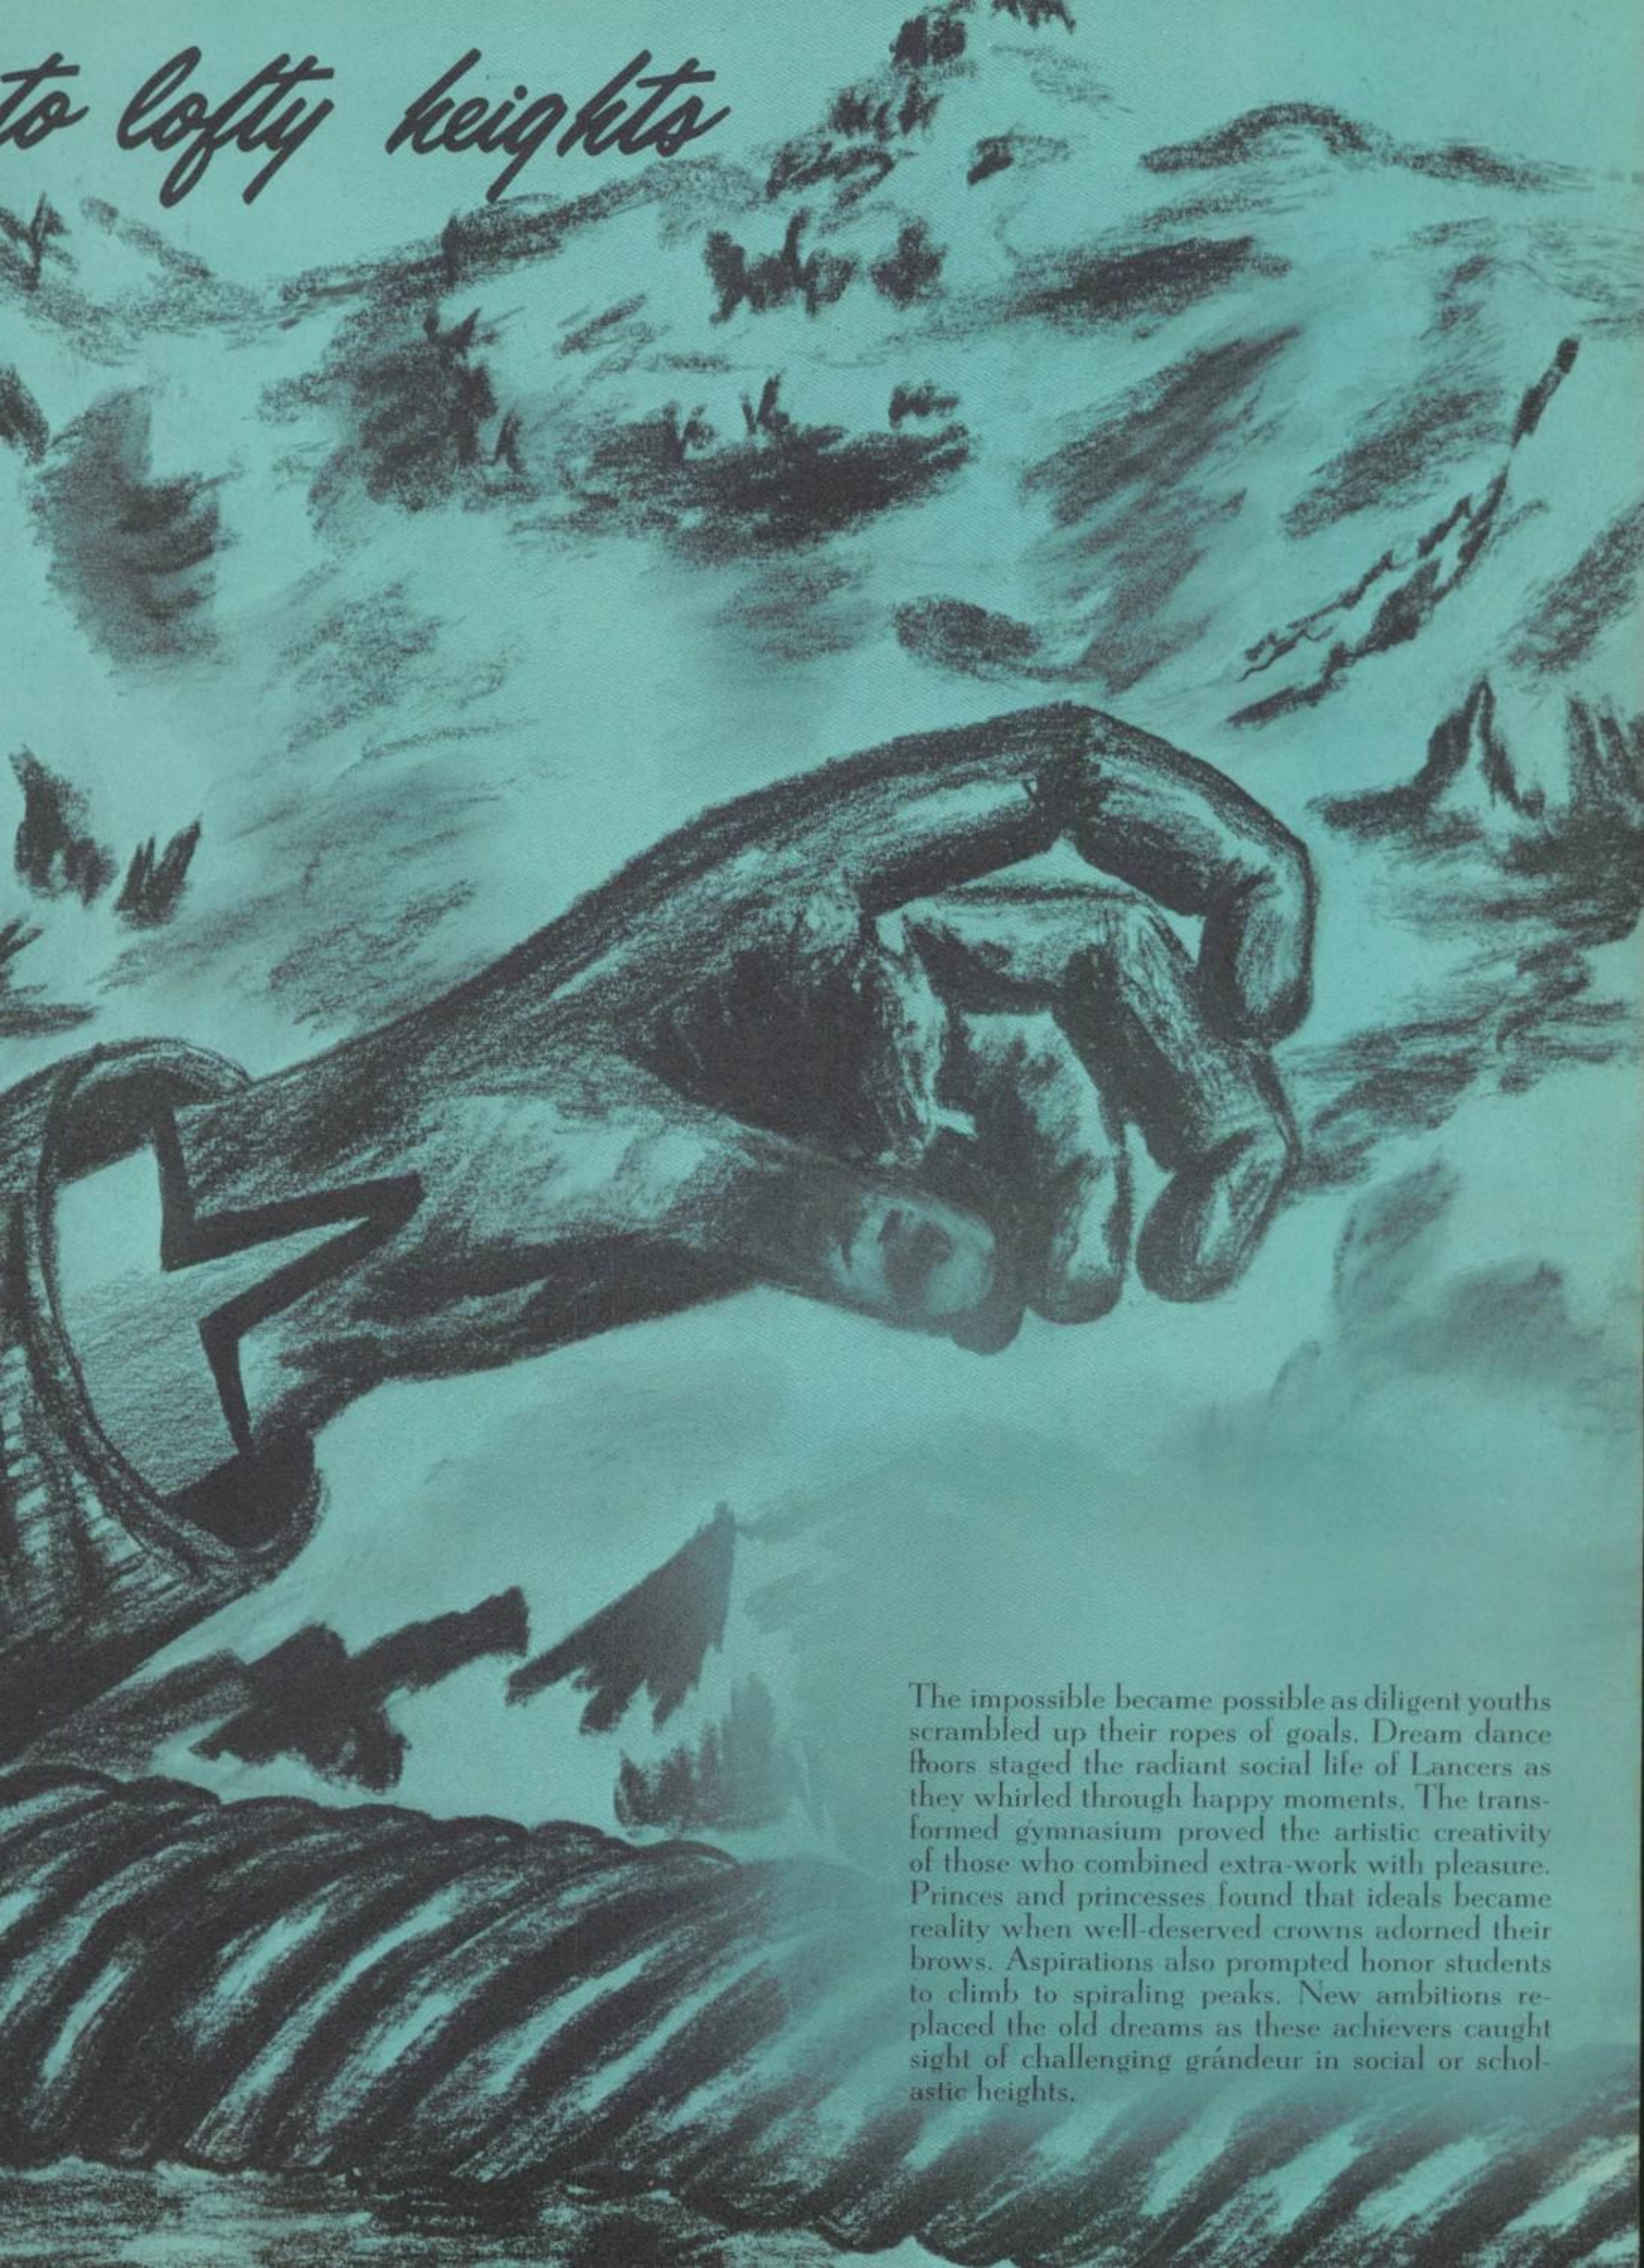

"Charge!" This cry resounded from the student body as the Pep Band played the traditional fanfare. Eagerness to raise school spirit to an all-time high motivated these musicians to be present at each and every home game throughout the year. They realized their responsibility and shouldered it well. This musical organization added the necessary spice to make the game atmosphere exciting and lively.

The impossible became possible as diligent youths scrambled up their ropes of goals. Dream dance floors staged the radiant social life of Lancers as they whirled through happy moments. The transformed gymnasium proved the artistic creativity of those who combined extra-work with pleasure. Princes and princesses found that ideals became reality when well-deserved crowns adorned their brows. Aspirations also prompted honor students to climb to spiraling peaks. New ambitions replaced the old dreams as these achievers caught sight of challenging grandeur in social or scholastic heights.

Dances

accented a fun-filled year

Senior

A starlit night, fragrant pines, cool mountain streams, and majestic peaks combined to form one of the most memorable dances that the senior class has ever sponsored at Granger High. Matthew's Combo lulled enchanted couples as they swayed to the modern melodies. Later, all were entertained by talented groups who performed in the floor show for the enjoyment of those present.

Dance

Sophomore Ball

"Frosted Fantasy" depicted a quiet winter scene with glistening trees, an icy bridge, snow-laden hillsides, and facinated couples. The Continentals, who performed excellently, furnished the music. The sophomore class, who sponsored the dance, should be congratulated for a night of fun and frolic. This night will long be remembered by everyone.

Girls Teen

sponsors the Girls' Pref' Dance

The ageless mastery of ancient Greece was expressed through the efforts of the Girls' Teen Association in their annual dance. The semi-formal occasion invited couples to enjoy the grandeur and beauty of Grecian atmosphere. Stately pillars, flowered gardens, and a detailed pavilion added to the graceful distinction of the event. The Most Preferred Man from each class was crowned during the intermission by the G.T.A. officers. The simplicity of "Antiquus Amo" will be remembered as one of the most delightful dances of the year.

"Most Preferred" were crowned during intermission.

Venus accentuated G.T.A. theme.

Harvest Ball

co-sponsored by the F.H.A. and AG clubs

The Harvest Ball brightened the calendar with tall cornstalks, orange pumpkins and twined crepe paper of autumn hues. Originality and organization speeded the project on to an artful climax. Couples, invigorated by November crispness and a myriad of color, will always remember "Autumn Interlude."

Football

hosted "Mr. Football"

A transformed gym boasting the appearance of a football field, welcomed couples to the traditional Football Dance. A large replica of a football offered a masculine touch to honor two athletes chosen as "Mr. Football" for the 1962 season. As snappy and as colorful as its name, the Mr. Football Dance delighted the large crowd attending.

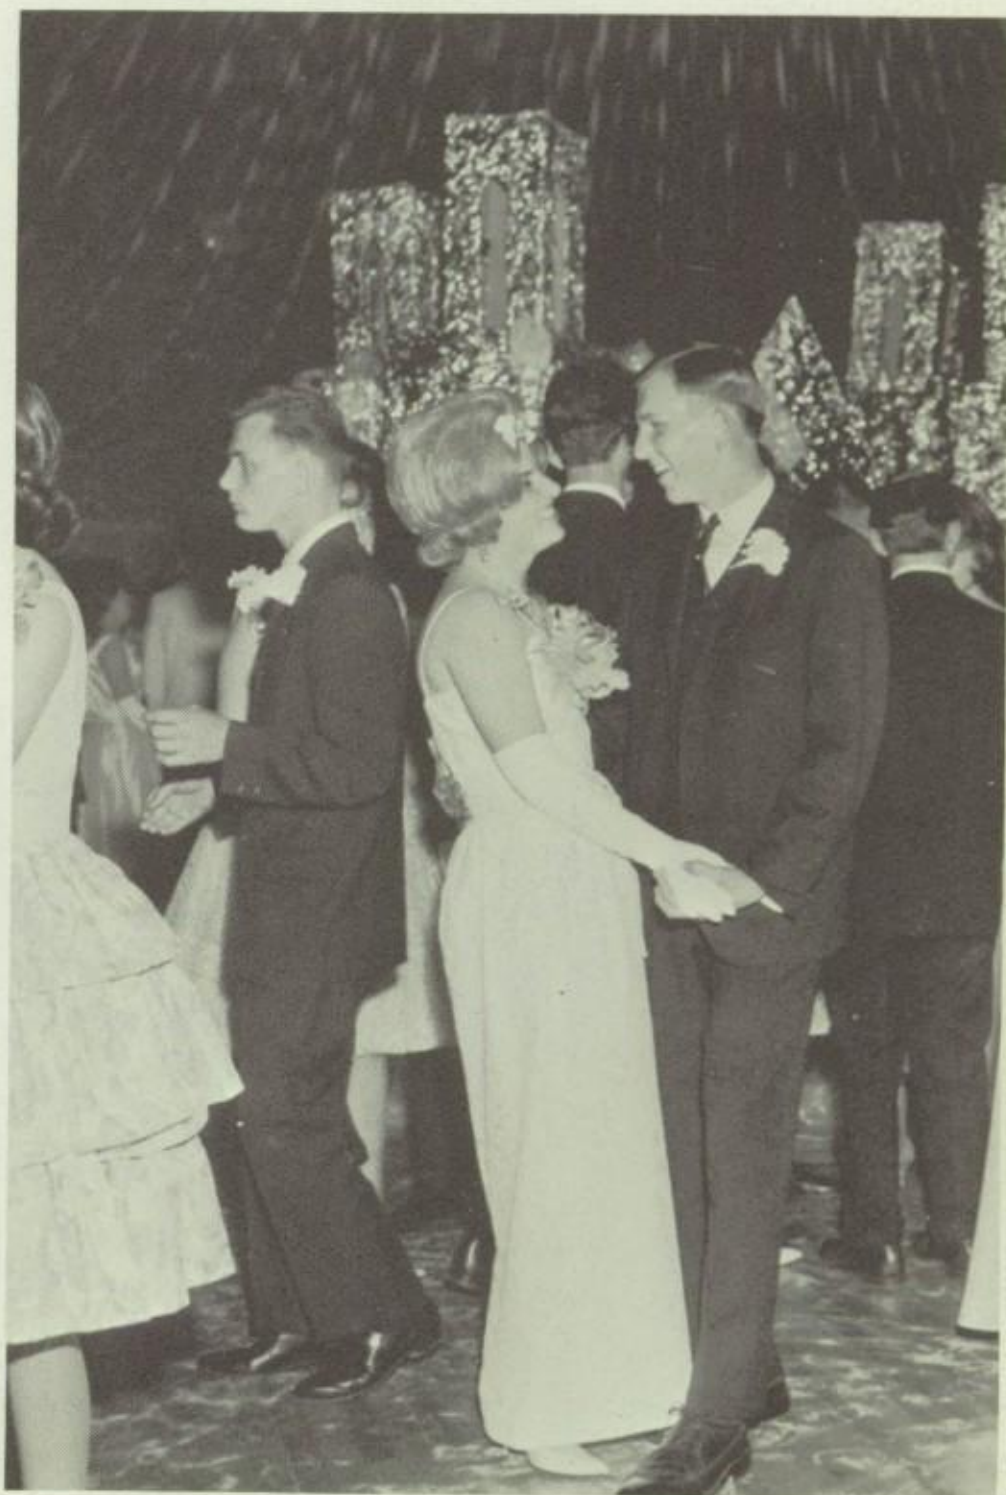

Junior Prom

created a Fairerland of Fantasy

Prince Charming awoke Sleeping Beauty from her deep slumber with a light kiss. As she opened her eyes the Lancerland court came to bubbling life in the most elegant ball of the year. Fantasy reigned in an atmosphere of cloud-like loveliness. Effervescent charm pervaded the air, making everyone feel as though he had stepped into an elegant land of make believe. One expected his fairy godmother to appear and complete the scene. Perfecting the mood were the Junior Prom Royalty. Their poised beauty and gracious smiles captivated each of their subjects. A memorable evening for all, a journey into Fantasia.

Stimulating breezes carried our thoughts to Utopian worlds of fantasy, of romanticism, and of self-gratification. Extra-curricular activities, such as the annual Lancer Ballade, the exceptional Brigadoon, and the captivating assemblies, provided outlets for talent-expression after a usual day of study. Working often as mediums, the performers caught stirring ideas and induced their audiences to think. Not only did the productions complement the participants, but the performances illustrated the creative capabilities of the Lancers. These opportunities to excel allowed the students to apply classroom knowledge in actual living situations.

Remember when the highlight of many days at Granger was an assembly? The Brigham Young University musical program held the interest of all. The class of '63 offered a Negro Minstrel, which combined the talents of the entire senior class. The class of '64 portrayed the famous television program, "This is Your Life." The class of '65 put on our Halloween assembly, which gave life to our halls on Halloween eve. Our many Pep Assemblies added interest and enthusiasm to the games. The Girls Teen and Boys Teen Associations excelled in their competitive productions. Everyone will remember the 1962-63 school year from the themes and talent presented on the assemblies.

Assemblies

Brigadoon

Authentic bagpipers joined with the chorus and soloists to transfer the mystic and gay atmosphere of Brigadoon to the audience.

A highland fling characterized the happiness of the newly married couple.

The promise of love brought Tommy Albright back to the simplicity of Brigadoon.

A thick brogue, set to a lively tune, told of the coming marriage.

Ballade

portrayed Land of Enchantment

I hear Amerca singing, the varied carols I hear. Singing with open mouths their strong melodious songs. The panorama of a Land of Enchantment unveiled itself in songs by the talented cast of the Lancer Ballade. Skyscrapers represented the lives of harried New Yorkers. Briefly represented, the hoodlum sections of the East added a touch of realism. The tranquil stillness of the North vividly contrasted to the rushing of the East. Coolness pervaded the air and the audience could smell the fragrance of pine trees. Loud singing and merry voices transfered viewers into the marvelous world of Mardi Gras, New Orleans' yearly festival. The booming West, another of the faces of America, revived the rootin' and tootin' cowboys. Each section rang with its own song, the song of America.

Still the same pretty Barbara.

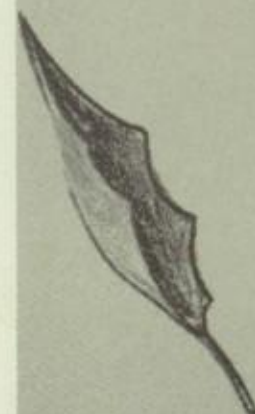

"Welcome home!" resounded as Homecoming activities began. Alumni wandered Granger halls, visited acquaintances and shook hands with past teachers. Each revived memories of their school days as the curtain opened to reveal talent backdropped by previous yearbooks.

New Lancers and old gathered on the field to watch an exciting football game. The crowning of the queen and her attendants sparked the half time show.

Students, alumni and teachers, bonded together by spirit and loyalty, danced to memory filled music on this day of reuniting.

Athletics

our footprints were embedded

Bulging muscle-bumps and stiff leg-limps characterized the athletes who valiantly represented Granger. Though mathematical defeats often tallied on the scoreboards, we lost no games because these youth won lasting friends, upheld Granger's standards, and displayed unusual sportsmanship. Our school spirit swelled as we joined with one unified purpose — that of embedding our footprints for future Lancers to admire and to follow.

Football

School spirit skyrocketed with Dr. Call's initiation of a late pick-up bus for students on game days. But hopes and determinations of the student body and the football team were dimmed by this year's winless season. The squad practiced diligently, but they couldn't produce the winning combination in their scrimmages.

A persistent battle with Cyprus ended in a heartbreaking 20-19 loss, climaxing an eventful season.

The Lancer-Pirate game typified other games in which Granger spirit supplemented team effort in carrying them to near victory.

Large crowds accompanied the team to the court this year, and a new gymnasium seating arrangement prompted school support. But Granger's young team was no match for the experienced cagers of other region powers. Time was to see artists from Region Four take three of five berths in the All-State line-up. Time will also see a young Lancer team gain experience to post victory in this same competition.

exceeded expectations

Success welled as an ever improving team topped the season with a second place Region Three post under the strong East team and over the two powers: Granite and Clearfield. Each year the paddlers have made a tradition of breaking their previous year's records, and the future shone as no exception to the fact. Coach Thorum and Coach Bawden showed optimism in their anticipation of faster times, and improved form for Granger's poolless squad.

"Here goes nothin' "

*From darkened valleys
to sunlit hilltops,
We walked together,*

Class barriers dissolved as we united to represent Granger High School. Warm bonds of friendship strengthened as we worked toward the common goal, that of making our school the best in Utah. Though dark moments (report card days) threatened us, we picked up our skinned knees and pressed forward. Nostalgia swelled as seniors mounted their last sunny hilltop and glanced eastward to see juniors and sophomores advancing over familiar trails. Now, they turn westward again with hopes of conquering new frontiers.

Senior Class Officers

looked eagerly ahead

With a touch of sadness, because they were leaving Granger High, the graduates of 1963 rejoined as they reviewed the experiences of their journey together. They learned from a preparatory past to labor for a monumentive future by making each day greater than the last with more purposeful motivation and steady progress. They were young men and young women seeking truth and enjoying each new discovery of life to the fullest extent because life was theirs to live. The graduates will always remember the remarkable people who inspired their lives. Not only do they possess the education of three glorious years, but they possess the experiences of friendships which they will cherish for the wonderful years to come.

Junior Class Officers

presented "Fantasia"

Dennis Rasmussen
President

Danny Leatherwood
Vice-President

Susan Orr
Secretary

The Junior Class Officers showed outstanding leadership throughout the year. Quiet, but full of unusual ideas, Dennis Rasmussen, the class President, became the shining example who guided the Juniors through a successful year. The dynamic personality of Danny Leatherwood, the Vice-President, filled the heart of every Lancer with the spirit of laughter and fun. Petite Susan Orr, Secretary, always had a warm smile and a friendly hello for all. Aided by these prominent officers, the Junior Class displayed their talents in two exceptional assemblies, and their unforgettable Junior Prom.

Sophomore Class Officers

adjusted to new realms

Joe Winrow
President

Kathy Hall
Vice President

Rea Jones
Secretary

Our initiates adopted modes of greater perception and deeper intelligence. Class officers: Joe Winrow, Kathy Hall, and Rea Jones, patterned the year of frolic and frustration. "Frosted Fantasies," the Sophomore Ball, crystalized cooperative efforts. Their unification of talent produced captive assemblies. Exceptional school spirit symbolized their enthusiasm and maturity. Mutual respect and friendship, which developed throughout the year, focused at the rollicking class party. They anticipate being Juniors with the hope of equal opportunities and enjoyment.

Howdy Tracy,
 you're the one of the nicest person I live ever met. Loads of luck in everything

 everything goes right classes with you. So see

I walked with you.
Remember me?

We laughed
When our teachers told jokes . . .

We cried
When we lost that game . . .

We sang
When the spirit of our Alma Mater rose . . .

We thought
When new ideas challenged us . . .

We dreamed
When life faced us . . .

I walked with you.
Remember me?

Tracy
you are a real sweet kid. keep as sweet as you are now.

Death, Be Not Proud

Death, be not proud, though some have called thee
Mighty and dreadful, for thou art not so;
For those whom thou think'st thou dost overthrow
Die not, poor Death; nor yet canst thou kill me.
From rest and sleep, which but thy pictures be,
Much pleasure; then from thee much more must flow;
And soonest our best men with thee do go —
Rest of their bones and souls' delivery!
Thou'rt slave to fate, chance, kings, and desperate men,
And dost with poison, war, and sickness dwell;
And poppy or charms can make us sleep as well
And better than thy stroke. Why swell'st thou then?
One short sleep past, we wake eternally,
And Death shall be no more: Death, thou shalt die.

By John Donne
